REDWOOD CITY, SAN MATEO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1931.

ESTABLISHED IN 1859

CITY NOW $600 SHORT FOR TOTAL REQUIRED IN BOY SCOUTS' FUND

Committee Working to Secure Remainder of $1500 To Be Raised By This City As Scout Contribution

Redwood City needs approximately $600 more to complete its quota of $1500 in the Boy Scout drive for funds, according to Edward T. Harrison, chairman of the local campaign drive committee. It is the hope of the committee that this amount can be raised within the next few days, so that the Redwood City Regional committee can proceed with its plan for activity for 1931.

As has been previously explained, $1,000 of the $1,500 raised locally will remain in Redwood City and will be used in furthering and developing the Scout movement here. The San Mateo County Scout Council, of which Redwood City is a part, has consented to Redwood having its own assistant field executive, who will work part time on salary.

The fact that a local assistant executive is to be employed has aided greatly in stimulating interest in Scouting in the southern part of the county and is making easier the work of the committee in raising funds for the support of the movement here.

Another factor in the furtherance of the cause in the establishment of a regular accredited course in the Sequoia high school in Boy Scout leadership training. The big problem in Scouting in all communities is the securing of the proper leaders and the lack of these has been one of the drawbacks in the movement here. Fourteen boy students at Sequoia have enrolled in this course, which was started two weeks ago and splendid progress is being made in the work, according to reports from the school. Steps are also being taken to form a Boy Scout troop at Sequoia under the leadership of Harlow Clark, one of the new instructors at the school and who has had considerable experience in Scouting.

Appeals have been sent to the various lodges and fraternal organizations in the city and responses so far have been received from the Redwood City Woman's Club, The Owls, United Spanish War Veterans, Exchange Club and the Native Sons.

Other Donations
Additional subscriptions to the local Boy Scout fund to those already published in the Standard were announced yesterday by Chairman Harrison as follows:

Sudden Lumber Co., City of Redwood City, J. C. Conway, Kincaid & Fitzpatrick, Employees of Bank of America, Victor Doppe, Jennie E. Hartley, E. W. Magruder, Robt. Fraiser, Cash, Exchange Club, Carl Muller, L. M. Hughes, Mildred L. Brown, Wm. Boos, E. DeSmith, Montana Delbon, A. C. Carleton Mary Cowder, Fred Blase, Walter Baker, J. B. Perry, R. W. C. Woman's Club, E. W. C. Order of Owls, Gray Thornton Lumber Co., Capt. Reilly Camp Spanish War Veterans.

Coastside Road Conference Held

A conference was in progress yesterday afternoon in San Francisco concerning the construction of the coast highway from San Francisco into Santa Cruz. The conference was between Supervisor Manuel Francis of this county, Supervisor Andrew Gallagher of San Francisco, Supervisor George Ley of Santa Cruz, and Attorney Henry Heideberg, and was for the purpose of considering the further legal action necessary to secure the rights of way for the construction of the proposed $9,000,000 roadway long the coast.

The conference follows a court decision in San Francisco awarding $12,000 to the defunct Ocean Shore railroad and the McNece Company for rights of way at San Pedro point. The decision was termed a "death blow" to hopes for the coast highway, since alternative routes would involve vast engineering expenditures, said Supervisor Francis yesterday. The commission was prepared to pay $40,000, he said.

Feeling of many coastside leaders is that efforts should now be concentrated on the San Mateo - Halfmoon Bay road, known as the San

Tree Planting To Be Feature Of Arbor Day

Papers Sent Young Trees
From Outdoor Tree
Association

When the new home of the Redwood City Standard and Times-Gazette was erected on Washington street last summer, space was provided on either side of the main office for two trees or shrubs early in the spring. The owners were undecided as to what would be the most desirable to plant. This problem was solved Tuesday with the receipt of two packages, one addressed to the Standard, and the other to the Times-Gazette. The packages each contained a "pedigreed" baby Christmas tree, whose "father" is part of the famous Suro forest in San Francisco. They were sent by Clarence F. Pratt of San Francisco, president of the Outdoor Christmas Tree Association of California. The two papers will celebrate Arbor Day (Luther Burbank's birthday) Saturday, March 7, with the planting of the two trees in the spaces above mentioned.

How the Movement Started
The Outdoor Christmas Tree Association of California was founded by Clarence F. Pratt. On the lawn of the Pratt home, on Mt. Davidson, one of San Francisco's highest hills stands a fifty-foot Monterey cypress tree, part of the famous original Suro Forest, planted by Ex-Mayor Suro and the school children of San Francisco some fifty years ago. This tree was decorated with colored lights for the first time during the holiday season in 1926. Because of its towering eminence the tree was visible some four miles distant and seen from many part of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt received many grateful messages from strangers as well as friends who have shared the enjoyment of their tree, but the message that made them resolve to spread this good work to every home owner in every city of our state was one that came from a little child.

Confined to his home by an illness, this tiny lad watched each night with hungry eyes for the big tree to burst into scintillating splendor. It was the big event that carried him through each long, weary day with dreams of expectancy. To him the tree represented a combination of the genius of Santa Claus and all fairyland.

After the Christmas season was over and the tree was stripped of its gay holiday attire, the parents of the child expressed their gratitude for the pleasure it had given their boy.

And so it was that Mr. Pratt (better known as "Sandy") began the organization of the Outdoor Christmas Tree Association of California, and set another good example for all to follow by decorating the trees surrounding his sand and rock plants, scattered throughout California from Marysville to Monterey.

Mr. Pratt interested his employees in the trees at his plants and these employees made the strings of lights and decorated the trees on their own time, thus interesting seventy-five additional families in this great movement.

County Has Two Centennarians
LAMESA, Tex., (UP)—Dawson county boasts two centennarians. They are Mrs. M. E. Blair who last month passed her 100th birthday and the Rev. T. A. Boycan who this month observed his 101st birthday.

Joaquin to the Sea highway, they declared this week. If the former Ocean Shore railroad and other owners demand prohibitive prices, plans for immediate building of the coast highway should be abandoned, leaders stated.

Supervisor Francis pointed out that this plan might serve for Halfmoon Bay and vicinity, but that interests of the north coast section would not be served unless the coast highway is built.

Flood Hearing Postponed Until Monday Morning

Deposition of Mrs. Forde To Be Taken Concerning Birth
Of Mrs. Gavin

The taking of the deposition of Mrs. Alfreda Forde, mother of Mrs. Eudora Forde Willette, Flood case witness, has been postponed until Monday. The taking of Mrs. Forde's testimony was to have begun Tuesday. Mrs. Willette alleges that she is the mother of Mrs. Constance May Gavin, claimant to a part of the Flood fortune as being a daughter of James Flood. Mrs. Willette alleged at first that she was the mother of Mrs. Gavin, but that Flood was not the father, but that a James Cannon, property man at the Grove Street Theatre, was the father.

Mrs. Forde's testimony, and that of Mrs. Willette's brother are to be taken as a check upon her story. Mrs. Forde's testimony is to be taken at her apartment in Oakland.

In the meanwhile Garrett McEnerny and other attorneys for the Flood estate filed a demurrer yesterday to the amended petition of Mrs. Gavin on the ground that the amended petition of Mrs. Gavin did not state whether her mother was Mrs. Rosinda Flood or Mrs. Eudora Willette. This was finally submitted to the court on briefs. The hearing was marked by a sharp conflict between John Taaffe, counsel for Mrs. Gavin and Garrett McEnerny, attorney for the Flood estate. McEnerny claimed that Mrs. Gavin's petition had no legal standing since she alleged only that James Flood was her father, but failed to name the mother. Taaffe declared that the law did not require that the identity of the mother be established as long as the fact of the father could be proved.

Mrs. Gavin claimed in her petition for a part of the $18,000,000 Flood estate that she was the daughter of Mrs. Rosinda Flood and of James Flood. Later when Mrs. Willette came forward and claimed that she was the mother of Mrs. Gavin, and that the father was James Flood, Mrs. Gavin amended her petition so that heirship might be claimed in either event.

Mrs. Willette has now reversed her story and claims that the father was one, James Cannon, a property man in the old Grove street theatre in San Francisco. John Taaffe, however, one of the attorneys for Mrs. Gavin, has thrown doubt on this statement, when he showed that Mrs. Willette had met Cannon after the alleged birth of her daughter, but did not recognize him.

Education Week Committee Named

Week to Start on April 20th
And Be Observed in All
Sections

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22—This state wide committee to have charge of the twelfth annual observance of public schools week, beginning April 20, was announced in this city today. Charles Albert Adams of this city is general chairman and Vaughan MacCaughy, secretary, with Robert A. Odell of Los Angeles, chairman of the southern section.

In the celebration of the week this year, and in the preliminary work leading up to it, special attention is to be devoted to the rural schools.

The committee, divided into northern and southern divisions, is as follows:

Cloud, secretary, California Teachers' Association; W. E. Givens, Oakland city superintendent of schools; Joseph M. Gwinn, superintendent of schools, San Francisco; O. S. Hubbard, superintendent of schools, Fresno; George C. Jensen, principal Senior high school, Sacramento; Wesley W. Kergan, Will Crockett and Elias E. Ellison, as lay members.

Southern California—Robert A. Odell, chairman; Melvin Bowman, Santa Barbara school department; J. L. House, high school principal, El Centro; and the following school superintendents, L. E. Chenoweth,

COUNTY'S FOREST FIRE LOSS ESTIMATED AT $600 FOR 1930

State Report Shows Fire Loss in California To Have Been Lowest During Past Year Than in Any Of Ten-Year Period

By RUSSELL D. PENNYCOOK
SACRAMENTO, Cal., (UP)—California's $651,000 loss in 1930 from forest, grain and grass fires, outside of national forests, was the lowest in the last 10 years.

Such is the report of State Forester M. B. Pratt this week, who credits extremely low fire loss to two factors. First, 1930 was a year of favorable weather in which there was no prolonged dry spell, and second, the control and supervision exercised by the state over 4,000,000 more acres of land than in 1929.

Losses in 1930 were $651,408 as compared with $1,952,074 the previous year. There were 2809 fires last year and 3468 in 1929. The acreage burned over in 1930 was 317,383 as compared with 951,938 acres the previous year.

In San Mateo county the number of fires reported were 43 in which 906 acres were burned over with a loss of only $600.

As in previous years smokers were responsible for 40 per cent of the fires started. Despite the campaign continually waged to educate smokers a great many still fail to realize the seriousness of a dropped cigaret or cigar, according to Pratt. Causes of fires as listed in their relative order are, smokers, brush burning, incendiary, lighting, campers, railroads and lumbering.

The greatest area burned over in any county was 26,716 acres in Calaveras county. Los Angeles county with 773 fires showed the largest number of individual losses.

"The establishment of lookout stations under the supervision of state rangers and the purchase of a number of fire trucks by the state has been effective in controlling fires," Pratt said, but our work must continue. We must not only be in a position to extinguish fires but we must get to the source and stop them before they are started. This is a matter of education and one to which we are devoting a great deal of our effort. There will always be fires from natural causes but the number of fires started by smokers and campers can be lessened considerably.

Inquest Held For Victim of Hit and Runner

Inquest Also Held for Hitch
Hiker Killed in Crash
With Truck

An inquest was held Wednesday at South San Francisco into the death of Louis Caldoneri, 55, of San Bruno, who was killed Friday while walking on the highway near San Bruno. The verdict of the jury was that Caldoneri came to his death as the result of a fractured skull when run down by an automobile driven by "parties unknown."

Caldoneri was killed while going to view a crash which had occurred between a truck and a car, and in which an unidentified man was also killed as the result of a fractured skull. An inquest was also held for this person.

Thomas McGowan, 55, of San Francisco is charged with manslaughter in regard to the death of the unidentified man. He is alleged to have been driving his car while intoxicated, and to have crashed into the truck operated by Ralph Bisset, 28, of Monterey. The man who was killed in the crash was said to have been a hitch-hiker who had accepted a ride with McGowan.

Bisset testified at the inquest that McGowan's car was swerving from one side of the road to the other, and that he had pulled off the road in an attempt to miss the collision.

In the collision between the car and the truck the gasoline tank of the truck was torn off and the fuel ignited.

Will Collect Income Taxes at Courthouse

Collector of Internal Revenue John P. McLaughlin will have a deputy collector stationed in Redwood City on March 4, 5, and 6 to assist the income taxpayers in the preparation and filing of their income tax returns for the year 1930. These returns are due on March 16, 1931.

All single persons having a net income of $1,500 or over, and all married persons having a net income of $3,500 or over, must file a return.

All persons are required to file a return who have a gross income of $5,000 or over regardless of the net income.

Opium Staffed Nuts Seized
ISTANBUL, (UP)—Fifteen sacks of walnuts each nut being stuffed with opium, were seized on a ship here.

Bakersfield: A. R. Clifton, Los Angeles; F. A. Henderson, Burbank; Walter R. Hepler, San Diego; Fredrick F. Martin, Santa Monica and Charles E. Teach, San Luis Obispo. Civic leaders on the committee are John Beman, Dr. Walter V. Goodfellow and James T. Montano.

Officers Chosen For New Knights Of Pythias Lodge

Institution Meeting of Lodge
To Be Held March 7th;
Banquet Planned

The first meeting of the group of Knights of Pythias who are planning the formation of a lodge of that order, was held Wednesday evening at the Mason studio, at which time the officers for the new lodge were elected. T. J. Seitz was elected chancellor commander; C. H. Ward as vice-chancellor; George Gallagher as prelate; F. C. Moller, master of work; S. H. Mason, keeper of seals and records; S. H. Stone, master of finance; Ernest Hecht, master of exchequer; A. M. Martin, inned guard; J. W. Dean, outer guard; M. H. Zimmermann, E. H. James, A. Wolf, trustees.

There were present at the meeting Wednesday evening 56 prospective members of the new lodge who enjoyed the meeting and the refreshments which followed.

The new lodge will meet every Friday evening in the Foresters hall following the institution of the lodge, which is to take place on March 7. Next Saturday evening a big banquet is being planned which will precede the institution of the lodge. Plans are being made for seating a hundred at this banquet. Lieutenant Governor Frank F. Merriam, past grand chancellor of the order, will act as toast-master for the banquet. Promotion work for the new lodge is being handled here by Tom L. Hicks, special deputy grand chancellor.

LOCAL WOMAN'S MOTHER PASSES

After an extended illness, Mrs. Sarah Devin Clark, widow of Thomas King Clark, died Tuesday evening at the home of her daughter, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. D. Peters, 136 Hudson street, Redwood City.

Mrs. Clark comes of an old and prominent pioneer family. Born in Illinois, her parents were early pioneers in Iowa where she grew up, and married. Most of her married life was passed with her husband in the west; some six years in Montana and nearly forty years in Seattle, where her husband died in 1920. Since that time she has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Peters, coming with their family to Redwood City in 1925.

Mrs. Clark was 79 years old. One brother, James Devin, at the family homestead in Iowa, and three daughters and one son survive her, as well as several grandchildren. The son is Thomas K. Clark, and the daughters: Mrs. R. D. Drew, Mrs. A. W. Brown, all of Seattle, and Mrs. J. H. D. Peters of Redwood City.

The body was shipped Wednesday night to Seattle for burial by Layne & Tinney Funeral Parlors. No services were held here.

Exchange Club Arranging For Musical Show

Committees Selected to Aid
In Producing Riot of Comedy

Final arrangements for presentation of the Exchange club's musical comedy are being made this week by a number of committees which were appointed Tuesday by Edmund Scott, president of the club. The presentation will be that of "The Collegians", a George Ade comedy, which is said to be one of the funniest shows ever produced.

A cast of about fifty members is being drilled in the various parts by Jack Reber, who is directing the presentation. Some of the main leads in the cast are being taken by Al Davies, Sidney Moore, Merlyn Stokes and Frank Griffin. Chorus composed of local girls are to have a prominent part in the production.

The general chairman of the show committee is Harvey Conner, who is being assisted by the following committees:

Advertising and tickets: C. D. Hall, chairman; John Barrett, Dr. W. B. Langston, Alfred Robertson, Kendall Towne and James P. Hearne.

Ushers: James Eva and Leonard Casanova.

Concessions: Frank Griffin and Bob Murphy.

School advertising: Frank Griffin, James Eva and Leonard Casanova.

Programs: Al Davies, chairman; Sidney Moore, John Barrett, James P. Hearne, Wilbur Dossie and G. D. Hall.

Tickets are now on sale by all members of the club and can be exchanged for reserved seats at Ryan's Drug store at noon on March 10. Tickets are to be 75 cents each. The production will be given in the Sequoia high school auditorium on the evening of March 13. A dress rehearsal for the children of the grammar and high schools will be held on the afternoon of March 12.

Wright Players To Present "Feast of Belshazzar" Here

Stirring Religious Drama To Be Presented Sunday At Methodist Church

"The Feast of Belshazzar" a gripping religious drama, will be presented here at the First Methodist church on Sunday evening by the Wright California Players.

This is the tenth season of this company of talented artists, in their presentation of Biblical dramas, and the present play is the greatest of them all in its gripping realism, tragic climaxes, and never-to-be-forgotten lessons. One tense, thrilling moment follows another as the following characters appear on the scene:

King Belshazzar.
The Royal Queen.
The Beautiful Slave.
The Romantic Chaldean and then Daniel.

It is all Magnificent Religious Drama, with gorgeous costumes, beautiful stage settings, and intense action. Three acts will be presented, as follows:

Act I: The Idol Worshipers and the Burning Fiery Furnace.
Act II: Feast of Belshazzar—the Handwriting on the wall.
Act III: The Lion's Den. The Triumph of Faith.

AUTO ACCIDENT CAUSES ACTION FOR DAMAGES

An automobile accident on the highway on December 31 of 1930 is the basis for an action commenced in the superior court of this county this week by Blanche Starnier against Evangelista Belli and two John Does. The action is for $10,000 and alleges that the plaintiff was struck by the car of the defendant which was being operated at a speed of 40 miles an hour.

Bayshore Road Will Be Opened On First of May

Assurance Is Given to City Manager that Roadway Will Be Completed Soon

In a statement issued yesterday Colonel J. H. Skeggs, district engineer of the division of highways for the State of California, announced that the San Mateo-Redwood City link of the Bayshore Highway will be open for traffic on May 1. The statement sent to City Manager E. A. Rolison follows:

"Owing to the interest manifested by the motoring public and the affected peninsula communities in the progress of the work on Bayshore boulevard, between San Mateo and Redwood City, it is the desire of the Division of Highways to inform the public as accurately as possible regarding this particular section of the state highway system.

"The work has been carried ahead steadily, in keeping with well laid plans of the department and the contractors are working on schedule as provided under the terms of their contract.

"The grading has been completed and the placing of the base rock, upon which there will be placed a temporary surfacing, has progressed as rapidly as weather conditions permit.

"Following the completion of the base course there will be placed a temporary oil and rock surfacing which will accommodate traffic until settlement of the roadbed and other traffic conditions warrant the placing of additional wearing surface, to be followed at a later date with a high grade surfacing. This will necessarily require time due to the unstable conditions met in building over marsh land.

"When open to traffic it is not the intention to close the road, as additional construction on this section, as well as other units of the highway, will be carried on under traffic with as little inconvenience to the motoring public as the proper execution of the work will permit.

"The remaining work, which largely consists of the placing of the temporary surfacing, will require approximately two months under average weather conditions encountered during this season of the year; therefore we have set May 1 as the opening date, and feel sure the work will continue on schedule, thereby permitting the opening of this section of the Bayshore within a very few days prior to or after this date."

Toxin Treatment Offered by School

A film entitled "New Way For Old," will be shown at the McKinley school this (Friday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in connection with the toxin anti-toxin treatments that are to be given at the Redwood City schools in co-operation with the local physicians beginning March 4. There treatments are to be given in three doses, the first on March 4, the second March 11 and the third March 18.

These toxin anti-toxin treatments are harmless, according to a statement of Miss Cora E. Clute, public school nurse, and does not cause a sore as smallpox vaccination. Children who have taken toxin anti-toxin need not take another dose and pre-school children should not have the treatment, it is pointed out by Miss Clute.

Consent to the treatment must be given by the parents or guardians of the children, and a signed statement giving this permission must be returned to the school not later than Monday, March 2. There will be a charge of 75 cents for the complete treatment unless other arrangements are made with the school nurse.

By the capture of members of what is alleged to have been an organized gang of burglars, car thieves and hold-up robbers, the sheriff's office believes that the operations of the gang have been successfully ended. The members of the gang so far arrested are three men and a woman; another woman is said to have been connected with the gang, but owing to her physical condition, has not been placed under arrest.

Those arrested are John Frenner, Kaylor Crockett, George Lewis and Miss Lucille Goodspeed, the latter only 17 years of age. The other woman said to be connected with the gang is Dorothy Frenner, wife of Frenner and a sister of Miss Goodspeed.

The arrest of the gang followed the arrest last week of Lewis and Frenner who were caught stealing gasoline drums from a San Mateo service station. Frenner was at that time granted probation, and Lewis was given a jail sentence. Investigation of Lewis' operations soon implicated the other members of the gang, and Crockett and Miss Goodspeed were taken into custody.

Miss Goodspeed and her sister are said to be members of one of San Mateo's oldest and most highly respected families. Their father is said to have been the late Edward R. Goodspeed who was elected as city treasurer of San Mateo in 1896, succeeding William Herbst, the first city treasurer of that city. Goodspeed also held other positions of trust in San Mateo and was one of the prominent citizens of that city until about 8 years ago when he was killed by an automobile. The girl's grandfather was also one of the leading citizens of the county. He was the late Isaac Goodspeed, pioneer physician of this county, who served as justice of the peace in Pescadero in the early days of the county; was associate superior judge of Santa Cruz county, and held many county and state positions. Dr. Goodspeed was for many years county examiner for the insane and was chief surgeon for the Southern Pacific railway in this district.

Confessions secured from various members of the gang have brought to light a long record of crime. At least two burglaries in the east bay have been confessed by them as well as a long list in this county, including the Lowe and Zwerlein store in San Mateo, and the Halfmoon Bay Mercantile Company in Halfmoon Bay. A number of auto thefts and hold-ups are also charged against the operation of this gang.

When the arrest of Frenner and Lewis put an end to their operations, the gang was planning the robbery of the S. & G. Gump antique store in San Francisco, where Crockett had been employed for two years as shipping clerk. Information gained by Crockett concerning the establishment was to have been used in securing the payroll of the large establishment. The plan was according to their statement, to wait in a rear alley, and attack two members last to leave the store, and who left by the rear exit, while all the employees left the store by the front door. It was planned to slus the two men as they left the store.

Confessions by the various members of the gang are said to have explained at least 18 burglaries, as many auto thefts and one or two armed hold-ups.

HELD AS DRUNK

Arnold Hagen and Harry Gady, both cooks, were arrested Tuesday evening by Officer Sylvester Douglass and charged with being drunk and of possession of liquor. They were sentenced by Judge Edward I. McCulliffe to pay fines of $10 each or spend two days in the county jail. Both served the jail sentence.

DRUNKEN DRIVER HELD

Dan Gomez, 27, a laborer, was arrested by Officers Snider and Fogarty of the Redwood City police department, and is charged with driving his car while under the influence of liquor. Gomez is being held at the county jail in lieu of $250 cash or $500 bond bail.

Who Was to Blame?

When the war was on nearly everybody in the United States agreed that Germany was to blame. There now seems to be some difference of opinion about the matter. This is evidenced by a resolution of Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, now before the Senate, which says "that it is the sense of the Senate, in the light of documentary historical evidence" that the treaty at Versailles contained a misstatement in the formal charge "that Germany alone was responsible for the war."

Sure, let's have an investigation. It is one of the rare subjects that the Senate hasn't attempted to investigate—so let's include it in a real snoopy. Sherlock Holmes inquiry. The investigations might inquire into the reasons why the Kaiser quit wearing a pointed mustache and grew a Van Dyke beard of English design. In connection with these international puzzles, our Senate ought to know what business the Prince of Wales has drumming up English trade down in Central and South America. The inquiry might go back a little further and dip into the Spanish-American war, and uncover the reasons for the suspension of constitutional government in Cuba, inasmuch as the Island is having just about as much trouble as Spain is experiencing under the monarchy. There are a lot of things that the Senators might find out—for instance: Why doesn't that body approve joining the World Court, as it agreed to do?

Presto! The Task Is Done

An epitome of the happy lot of the American household which has used the offerings of enterprising business and persistent science to achieve a comfortable and efficient existence was given us recently by Frau Elsa Einstein, wife of the distinguished German scientist, when she said:

"Here housework is so simple. You press a button or pull a lever and almost before you know it, the tasks are done. Women can do more work themselves and are not so dependent upon servants as we are at home."

Frau Einstein limited her impressions of the American home to the actual time and labor-saving devices that enable the housewife to easily do chores that once were a drudgery. She did not touch upon the host of comforts and utilities that go along with these mechanical workers to make the American home like a complete picture of contentment.

The part played by business in the home, as touched upon by Frau Einstein, is vividly shown in a statement by E. C. Faustmann, president of the Royal Typewriter Company, who pointed out that the domestic sale of portable typewriters was a contributing factor in enabling his firm to pay dividends out of earnings of 1930.

Wall Street knows that every other typewriter company showed losses from 30 to 50 per cent for last year. Royal touched a fertile market with a home-size machine and added to its surplus. This proves that it is not entirely a humanitarian movement that is providing the American home with comforts and conveniences. Business is behind it.

Vacuum cleaners, egg beaters, washing machines and floor polishers eliminate drudgery, and both the housewife and business benefit.

Not only is the housewife considered, but conveniences are contrived for every member of the family. All use the telephone. And now the typewriter is finding an equally prominent place in American home life.

Does It Pay to Advertise?

Willis C. Bentley of Seattle, Wash., has been converted to the theory of advertising, and is a strong believer in the power of the printed word. Recently Bentley suffered an attack of hiccoughs which lasted for three days. A small item appeared in the paper concerning his unusual case, and immediately Bentley's mail became of Bromdignagian proportions. He was flooded with suggestions as to how to rid himself of the malady.

Some of the remedies given by the scores of sympathetic persons were:

A mixture of coal oil and sugar, hot ginger, mustard plaster and foot baths, old socks tied around neck, drink pint of water while counting to 50, sleep crosswise in bed with head hanging over the edge, run until out of breath, swallow mouthful of water while standing on head, put head in hot oven, take a ride in collegiate flivver, hold nose and drink two bottles of soda pop, inhale air from inner tube.

Let us, if we must have great action, make our own so. . . . The simplest words, we do not know what they mean, except when we love and aspire. Love, faith and truth of character, the aspiration of man, these are sacred.—Emerson.

Another Apology?

New York Italians are now calling upon this government to offer another apology to Mussolini for statements said to have been made by the assistant attorney general. Perhaps the softness shown by this government by rushing in with an apology to the Italian dictator for the remarks of General Butler made it appear that the United States is ready to bow to the whim of the Duce whenever called upon to do so. Uncle Sam, as it were, must tip-toe around with his hat in his hand for fear of hurting the feelings of a man who has trampled underfoot every ideal upon which this country is founded.

What this country needs is not more haste in making apologies, but a stricter supervision of immigration, so that foreigners landing here will be of a type which will appreciate the liberty and self government of a free people, and not be ever on the alert to demand apologies to a foreign land which they were glad enough to leave, and show no irresistible urge to return to.

The fact that the United States will allow to live here foreigners who are so ready to demand of this country an apology for any statement of an American official, shows that the immigration authorities have been lax in their duties.

Many of our finest citizens have come from the land which is now under the heel of the dictator. They have come here and contributed much to our own nation. Of them we offer no criticism. But the Italian who comes to the United States to live under a government of, for and by the people, and yet who supports in action, word and deed a type of government which is the antithesis of everything which we hold to be necessary for a democratic and free commonwealth—for that person there should be no room in the United States.

Power of the Printed Word

Less than 50 years ago the United States had its full share of strictly local dishes, like Boston baked beans, Philadelphia scrapple, New England clam chowder, or Columbia River salmon. The natives of each section were proud of their local dishes. But the printed word has spread the knowledge of these dishes until they are no longer local—one can buy as good Boston beans in San Francisco as on Back Bay.

That peculiarly American institution, known as advertising provided the principal medium through which these exchanges of local dishes and delicacies were effected. Its clarion cry aroused an entire nation's desire for dishes which were once restricted to relatively small sections. The bean pot grew to enormous proportions as a result of the influence of advertising. New Orleans pralines invaded Peoria, and Vermont maple syrup flowed through every state in the Union.

Americans are justifiably proud, comments the Woman's Home Companion, that today anyone who can travel as far as the corner grocery can purchase the finest delicacies that any section of the country can produce.

And just as advertising served in the past by giving the nation a diversified choice of things to eat, by raising manufacturing standards and by enriching the cuisine of the country, it is serving today by giving constant and dependable information on the right merchandise at fair prices. Moreover, so high is the standard of advertising ethics today that the mere fact of its appearance in the printed page has come to be an endorsement and a guarantee of every statement contained therein.

Just an Old Spanish Custom

There are several things we do not understand, although we try to conceal the fact, but there they are never the less. One of them is why when eating in a cheap restaurant where the waiter gets barely enough to live on, very few tips are left on the table; but in an expensive restaurant where one is charged 50 cents for a 15-cent dish, it is customary to leave a generous tip on the table for the waiter. In a very high-class establishment where the food costs more and the waiter should be drawing down the salary of a bank president, the free-will offering is expected to be even more generous. Perhaps it just bears out what the Bible says about "to those who have shall be given."

Speaking of tips, isn't it funny anyway, how it has come to be expected that waiters, bell hops and others should receive tips, while the ice man, the garbage man, and the man who reads our electric meter just work on a salary. Perhaps it's just as well, though, for if the system were extended we would soon feel obliged to run out and slip the mail man a quarter each time he brought a letter and we know what that would mean at our house around the first of the month.

Then again, speaking of customs which we do not understand, is that peculiar twist of politeness which makes it quite alright to stand in an upper hall of a hotel with ladies and wear one's hat also to wear the same hat in the lower hall of the same hotel, but on descending from one place to the other in the elevator the hat should be removed. One may with perfect propriety, however, ride in a similar elevator with the same ladies in an office building and wear one's hat. Well, that's just another one of the things which we don't understand.

Then the thing which we can understand, least of all is why a great American city like Chicago can allow a notorious gang leader and racketeer to run its elections.

Love's Sacrifice

By Mildred Barbour

"It will ruin Dale," she said dully.

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

Sally Todd and Lois Montgomery seek careers in New York. Sally enters hospital training, after despairing of a career in the movies, and Lois marries a wealthy man many years her senior. Their paths diverge somewhat, for Lois's husband disapproves of Sally, who is very gay. On several occasions, after late parties, she has taken drugs to carry her through the day and is dismissed from the hospital. Lois provides her with a home and Dr. Dale Randolph offers her a job. She falls in love with him. He is strongly attracted to Lois, Sally, befuddled by drugs, tells him she loves him. He dismisses her, but Lois persuades him to give her another chance. Sally, instead of being grateful, becomes jealous. Lois's husband is informed that she is in love with Randolph. He watches her closely, particularly when she is Randolph's company. Sally's brother, Bert, who was in love with Lois at home, comes to New York. Sally tells him Lois is unhappily married and still in love with him. His attentions to Lois bring a remonstrance from Walton, Lois does not suspect that her husband, who resents her failure to aid him in realizing his social ambitions, is getting very tired of her. Hoping to find her in some indiscretion, he has her shadowed. He enlists Sally as an ally.

Chapter 62.

The Alternative

Bert reached Sally's house just after Dale Randolph had started back to town. Through the window that opened onto the porch he could see Lois moving about the living-room, and he wondered whether she carefully worked out plan had succeeded. He tapped at the inner door, and presently Lois opened it. He was startled to see how worn and haggard she looked.

"Where is — did you find Sally?" were her first words.

Bert wearily removed his coat and hat. "Yes, I finally located her," he yawned and eyed Lois closely. "Why didn't you telephone me?" she asked. "You knew that I was waiting."

He seated himself before the hearth and threw some wood into the grate. "What the Duce has been going on here?" he asked himself. "Why doesn't she say something?"

Aloud he said: "When I finally found her, it was so late that I thought you most likely had gone home, and I didn't want to disturb you."

"Anything would have been better than waiting in suspense," she said reproachfully. "Did the doctor come?" he asked. Surely the answer to that question would bring with it an explanation. She nodded. "He came — and so did my husband."

"Your husband?" Bert concluded that she didn't dream that he had had a part in laying the trap. "Well," he added, "that was very nice of him."

Lois shook her head. "You don't understand," she said simply. "He didn't come to — to help me. He came because someone has been telling him things about Dr. Randolph and me. When he found us here after midnight, with both you and Sally gone, he was furious. He threatens to begin an action — to name Dr. Randolph."

Bert's exclamation of surprise sounded genuine enough. Lois sank onto a foot-stool in front of his chair and sighed helplessly. "It will ruin Dale," she said dully. "I must do something to stop it. Bert, surely you can help me. Tell my husband the circumstances that brought me here."

Bert fidgeted uncomfortably. "He wouldn't believe me," he protested. "I probably couldn't even get him to listen to me. A man of his type makes up his mind about a thing and doesn't change it on the word of a fellow like me."

Lois stared into the fire. "I don't know what I'm going to do," she said. "About myself, that is. I suppose I can't go back to my husband's house."

"Why not stay here?" Then, remembering that his plans would work out to greater advantage if she were out of the way when Sally returned, he urged: "I think you ought to go home for a little while. Get away from everything."

"I can't run away," she said, "and leave Dale to face this thing alone." "Look out for yourself," he urged, and inwardly he was saying: "I must get her away. If Sally gets out, it would be just like her to spill the beans. She doesn't know how I worked this particular thing, but she knows plenty, and she can spoil everything, if she takes the notion."

Lois rose and drew aside the curtains. The sun was shining. What would the new day bring? she wondered. Bert was clumping toward the stairs. "Better think over what I just said about going home," he urged. "I'm going to see that Sally gets out of here as soon as she's able to leave the sanitarium."

"How did you leave her?" asked Lois, reproaching herself for being so occupied with her own troubles that she had no thought of Sally.

"Oh, she'll be all right," said Bert, trying to speak carelessly. "Only she has to be managed. I wouldn't try to get in touch with her, if I were you. Might only upset her more."

Lois scarcely heard what he said. Her mind was busy with the thought that had come to her during the night, when she had been trying to think of a way to save Dale Randolph from becoming involved in a scandal.

"Bert," she asked suddenly, "have you any money?"

"He looked at her sharply. Had she begun to suspect something? "Why — well, not very much," he began. "But you don't have to worry about money, Lois. Walton will give you plenty."

"That's not what I was thinking about," she returned. "I was wondering whether you needed any — whether you would like an opportunity to make some."

"Well," he said, "I just made a little on a deal yesterday. Not much. But enough to float me for a little while."

"What I'm going to say will probably strike you as rather startling," she said. "But I have some money and I'll give every cent of it to you, if you'll do the thing I ask."

"Great Scott, Lois," he cried, "what are you driving at?"

"I wondered," she said hesitatingly, "whether you'd be willing to — elope with me. That is, we'll make it look that way. You won't care if my husband does name you in an action against me. You haven't a professional reputation that you need worry about. If he thinks we've run off together, he'll name you, and that will keep Dale Randolph's name out of the mess. That's really all I care about. Will you do this for me, Bert?"

70 BRICKS EASIER LOAD

LONDON, (UP)—It is less of a strain on the arms to wheel 70 bricks in a barrow than 60. Dr. G. P. Crowden, lecturer, said in an address at the National Institute of Industrial Psychology here. He warned his listeners that there was an art and a science in walking, explaining that 64 per cent of muscular effort could be saved by proceeding at a brisk pace rather than attempting to hurry, an unwilling body.

TOURISTS HELP ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Ariz., (UP)—Caring for tourists is big business in Arizona, according to the state Industrial Congress which lists revenue from tourists as second only to mining. Last year, the Congress points out, revenue from copper mining totaled $76,000,000 while the tourist revenue of $50,000,000 was in second place. Agricultural brought $37,000,000 to the state while livestock revenue was $15,000,000.

Chemists Will Show Progress At Convention

Hundreds of Research Papers Planned for Annual Meet

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 26—(UP)—Progress of chemistry as an ally in medicine's fight against disease will be outlined at the 81st meeting of the American Chemical Society here March 30 to April 3.

Hundreds of papers on every phase of chemical research will be heard by the 1,500 scientists expected.

Topics to be discussed range from food fadism to mathematical formulae.

Three Symposiums

Following the opening of the program by Professor Moses Gomberg, University of Michigan, three symposiums will be held March 31.

Contemporary developments in the chemistry of physiologically active substances will be discussed by three divisions under Professor James B. Conant of Harvard University.

Dr. John N. Swan, Tuckahoe, N. Y., former head of the department of chemistry at the University of Mississippi, will head a symposium and chemical education.

Mathematics and Chemistry
The third symposium will discuss the use of mathematics in chemistry under Professor Farrington Daniels of the University of Wisconsin.

Professor William C. Rose, University of Illinois, will speak on dietary fads. Professor James S. McHargue, of the Kentucky Agricultural experiment station will talk on new research studies at the experiment station.

Other speakers include Frederick Olsen, East Alton, Ill., Professor R. A. Gortner, University of Minnesota.

Dr. F. R. Croll, Milwaukee, Earle M. Billings, Rochester, N. Y., and Dr. H. T. Herrick, Washington, D. C.

Lenten services will be held this afternoon at St. Peter's Episcopal church at 4 o'clock, with Rev. B. D. Weigle in the pulpit.

Rev. Weigle has chosen for his topic, "The Bible." Each succeeding Friday in Lent, a different subject will be discussed, using a modern viewpoint.

MENLO PARK

The city council met in regular session Tuesday night. All members were present, except Councilman Blake.

Street Commissioner Anderson presented a petition from the residents of Stanford Park, asking that a large oak tree on the corner of Cornell street and Harvard road be not removed until such time as the traffic would necessitate its removal. No action was taken on the request. A resolution presented by City Attorney Whitworth fixing the assessments on Hoover street and thus accepting the thoroughfare, was passed and adopted. There were no protests, written or oral, presented to the council. The average assessment charged against each fifty foot lot amounts to $184. The lot owners will have ten years to pay the sum or they may pay it now and thus avoid interest payments.

The ordinance regulating the sale of meat in town was read and deferred until the next meeting. The ordinance forbids the sale of meat from a wagon, there must be a fixed place of business for the sale of the product and all shops must close at 6 p. m.

The clerk was instructed to secure bids for repair of typewriter, such bids not to exceed $15. The city engineer was requested to prepare plans and specifications for street improvements on the following thoroughfares:

Arbor road, San Mateo avenue, Johnson street, University drive, Crane street between Santa Cruz avenue and Valparaiso avenue, Santa Cruz avenue and Oak Grove avenue and Mills avenue between Johnson street and University drive, Valparaiso avenue and Santa Cruz avenue between their southwestern termination at city limits of Menlo Park and their termination in the state highway and Oak Grove between University drive and the state highway.

The chief of police was instructed to have pedestrian lanes in town repainted at a cost of $26. Street Commissioner Anderson urged that the street names be imprinted on the curbs in Stanford Park, while the contractor was now engaged in putting in said curbs. The matter was deferred to a later date.

The council adjourned to February 27 to take up matters of importance.

W. T. Casey, one of the outstanding candidates for trustee of the Menlo Park Sanitary District, is making an active canvass for the place. Mr. Casey is one of the old pioneers of Menlo Park, coming here with his family as a boy. He is a recognized plumber of ability, a business man and one who would make an ideal trustee.

Alfred Seale, the Palo Alto capitalist, who died at his home in that city last Sunday, was well-known in Menlo Park. Mr. Seale owned considerable property in this community. His father came here in 1883.

Stanley E. Veverka, the young son of Joseph Veverka, local station agent, was united in marriage last Saturday at San Jose to Miss Auburn, a pretty and fascinating belle of the Garden City. After the ceremony, the young couple motored to Menlo Park to greet the groom's father. The couple will reside in San Jose after spending a short honeymoon in northern California. Mr. Veverka spent his boyhood at Palo Alto. He holds a responsible position with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company at San Jose.

Having successfully handled record-breaking passenger traffic over the last week-end in connection with its first "dollar day" bargain sale of transportation, the Southern Pacific Company is prepared to repeat the novel experiment today, Friday, Feb. 27th.

Travel on the railroad's Pacific Lines, serving seven western states, in response to the offering of transportation at the rate of approximately "one cent a mile" last Friday resulted in the largest general traffic movement in the company's history, according to Joseph Veverka, agent for the railroad here.

St. Joseph Players are planning an entertainment to be given right after lent. The members of the organization are rehearsing for a play that will be the hit of the year.

The Native Sons and Native Daughters are contemplating the construction of a joint hall building. The organizations are looking about for a suitable site.

It is rumored that the Standard Oil Company is to erect an oil station on the old Maloney corner across the street from the present station owned by the Associated Oil Company. It is said the concern will lease that corner or the one recently vacated by the Associated.

Secretary Cook of the Menlo Park Sanitary District reports that the following candidates have filed their applications to run for trustees at the election to take place on March 9, Mrs. Emma J. Stribling, W. T. Casey, Edward Eyre, A. Walker and Mr. Fontain. Three are to be elected. Other candidates may file later.

The Native Daughters are planning to start a series of whist games, the first to begin next Tuesday evening and every Tuesday evening thereafter until the end of the contest.

Contractor Wood has started his work in Stanford Park. A crew of men were put on this week grading the streets. The improvement will not be finished until late this summer. Mr. Wood has promised to employ local men.

A meeting of the residents of Paraiso Park will take place on March 3 at the city hall to discuss the contemplated improvements in the park by the city council. All are in accord concerning the necessity of the improvements.

Judge Hess reports the unemployment problem is gradually being solved by the number of men being put to work daily by his bureau. This week the judge found employment for a great number of men.

On Wednesday evening at Mills Memorial Hospital a seven and a half-pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Foster Andrews. The new arrival is a lusty lad with every promise of a bright future. The mother, formerly the pretty Nancy Nunn, is getting along nicely. Grandpa Nunn is proud of the boy, and like the happy father is receiving the congratulations of friends.

John Morey is building a dwelling on his property in the fashionable residential district in Redwood City. Mr. Morey has owned the land for some years and decided to build on it. The dwelling is to be an imposing one.

Everything is getting in shape for the annual St. Patrick's Day celebration on March 16, in the Hall of the Nativity. Among the numbers to be on the program are music by the Elks orchestra of eleven pieces, Francis Robinson conducting; O'Neill Sisters, Gaelic dancing; M. Lawley will be master of ceremonies. He is San Francisco's great comedian. Act from E. Emmel, Shrine leader of social affairs; act from South of Market Street Club; St. Joseph's Dramatic Club, a three act comedy. There is to be many more numbers that will surely create intense interest and amusement.

WOODSIDE

Reverend Benjamin St. John received a telegram on Wednesday praising him of the death at Fort Collins, Colorado, of his brother, Aaron St. John. The deceased was eighty-nine years of age in December last and had lived at Fort Collins, where he was engaged in business, for many years. Several years ago he paid a visit to his brother here and we of Woodside made the acquaintance of a very gracious, cultured gentleman. Last summer, Benjamin St. John paid a visit to his brother in Colorado and found him in excellent health, his age considered.

James V. Neuman and family, John J. Kelly and family and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mowse all planned to spend the holiday at their respective mountain homes on the other side of the ridge but the rain of Monday morning hastened their return to the land of paved roads, fearful lest their stay might of necessity be longer than they had planned.

Whether we are passing through a weather cycle that in time will bring us back to the old wet winters again or whether the climate of Woodside has definitely changed is a matter of controversy. Be the change temporary or permanent, those of us who can remember back twenty-five years note a striking difference. Then West Union Creek ran with a six foot depth of water and the roaring of its torrent as it swung around the bends could be heard for the distance of a mile. Of late years its trickle gurgles lazily along the stream bed almost losing itself completely in the sandy stretches.

The Live Oak Garage has been closed since the first of the month but is expected to re-open next week under a new management.

The mystery surrounding the burglarizing of Neuman's store has been solved in the arrest at Burlingame of two young men who were found to be responsible for nearly thirty burglaries and robberies along the Peninsula.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Swinnerton entertained a number of guests from San Francisco, at a house party over the week-end and holiday.

A. J. Zaepffel and family motored to Fortola for a day's outing on Wednesday.

QUICK END PREDICTED FOR APPROPRIATION MEASURES

Water Conservation Considered As Most Important Issue Before State Legislature Session

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Quick and painless death has been decreed for most of the thirty million dollars worth of special appropriation bills before the state legislature.

The reason: Most of them are of the "pork barrel" type, according to Rolland A. Vandegrift, director of finance. His biennial budget of $265,000,000, he says, will care for the important state expenses in next two years.

This means kismet for the majority of the money-spending bills. If they are passed by the legislature, they are doomed to die by the veto or pocket veto route in Governor Rolph's office.

California now has a surplus fund of $30,000,000—the greatest in the state's history. Special grants from the governor's budget will reduce this amount by $8,000,000 on July 1, leaving an estimated surplus in 1933 of $21,000,000.

By departments, the proposed legislative expenditures are:

Agriculture: $500,000 to indemnify farmers whose stock is killed in eradicating bovine tuberculosis, and $600,000 for eradication of Camel's thorn.

Education: $300,000 to create a 4-year state college in Sacramento; $1,000,000 to increase state's apportionment to junior colleges; $1,150,000 to buy land and construct buildings at San Francisco teachers college; $50,000 for an educational research foundation; $25,000 for additional vocational education; $50,000 for high school music contests.

Finance: $500,000 for new governor's mansion; $793,000 in claims bills; $150,000 for creating new state aeronautical division and purchase of three cabin planes for use of state officials.

Industrial relations: $361,000 for placing a system of state unemployment insurance into effect.

Institutions: $1,000,000 for new narcotics hospital; $100,000 for state neurological commission; $250,000 for new state institutions, including women's narcotic hospital; $1,650,000 to place salaries of employees in state institutions on par with employees in state prisons.

Military: $100,000 armory at Fresno; $75,000 for site and buildings for home for women veterans; $50,000 for armory at Pomona; $60,000 for armory at San Jose.

Natural resources: $50,000 for Kern county game preserve; $50,000 for state park revolving fund; $50,000 to continue geological mineral survey; $50,000 for jetty in Russian river.

Penology: $250,000 for installation of statewide police telegraph-type writer intercommunicating system between cities.

Public works: $3,000,000 for state aid to joint highway districts; $650,000 for survey of San Francisco bay bridge project; $1,200,000 for Los Angeles flood control work.

Social welfare: $96,000 for increased fund for state pensions to aged, needy and afflicted.

Water conservation probably the most important problem before the California state legislature, is the subject of scores of bills to be passed upon by the lawmakers.

Governor Rolph has announced he will insist upon a start toward a statewide co-ordinated water program, estimated to cost approximately $300,000. A special state water commission is now in Washington, D. C., conferring with President Hoover and federal officials as to whether Uncle Sam will aid in obtaining cheap money for this big development program.

Until the commission returns, no report will be made by the legislative water committee.

Creation of a permanent state water commission of nine members is provided in A. B. 1749, approved by the administration. Members would be appointed and hold office at the pleasure of the governor, and would represent, geographically, all sections of the state.

The commission would be empowered to investigate water problems in any county, district or section of California, and act in an advisory capacity to the state director of public works and the state engineer.

Mountain counties would be protected in their water rights under A. B. 540, which provides that if water from a mountain area is appropriated for use in the region in which it originates, such appropriation would be superior in right to any other claim to divert water outside the region.

Other water bills are as follows: Permitting organization of public water districts by holding special elections.

Prohibiting a water district from issuing bonds in excess of an amount authorized by the California bond certification commission.

Prohibiting sale of delinquent property in a water district for less than the reasonable market value.

HOLLYWOOD'S FILM SHOP

There are plenty of difficulties in making a motion picture, but some of the smallest and least expected often give the most trouble.

In filming "Svengali" at Warner Brothers studio, one of the most troublesome problems was to keep a "standing" figure. John Barrymore, the star, A "standing" is a man or woman, as the instance requires, employed to stand in place of the star during the long periods in which cameras are focused and lights adjusted.

The waits while such preparations are made often require a half hour, or longer between shots and by using a "standing" there is a great saving on the time and nerves of the star. The practice is common to all studios and many starring players.

The "Svengali" role, that of a sinister hypnotist, is a torment to the person who must wear the makeup. The long wig is hot and uncomfortable. The whiskers are glued to the face and the glue dries and pulls the skin, making the face sore and rough. It becomes impossible to eat while the makeup is on, or at least to chew, so the "standing" for the hypnotist role has a lunch of soft food.

The first "standing" for "Svengali" lasted one short working day. The second lasted three days and the third finally became used to the discomfort and finished the picture.

Any person will not do for a "standing." He or she must have a figure and face a little like that of the star, must wear the same makeup, the same colors and be enough like the star to enable the cameramen to know what they are to photograph when the star takes his place.

In the case of "Svengali," Barrymore wears not only the wig and the glued-on whiskers, but a putty hose that lengthens and accentuates the sharp Barrymore profile. This, too, is uncomfortable. The "standing" can quit, but Barrymore has to go on, grinning and bearing.

SPORTS . . . AMUSEMENTS . . . COMICS

SPEAKING OF SPORT BY FRANK GETTY

By L. S. CAMERON (United Press Sports Editor) Big Three Enjoying Off-Season Fuss

There's just one really unfortunate note about the current sports differences existing between the "Big Three," Yale, Harvard and Princeton, and that is that not everybody can appreciate the fine issues involved.

The easterner, who has been fed tradition since birth, as well as the alumnus of any of the universities involved, understands perfectly the whole of the present rumpus, but to an invader the thing might easily appear childish.

The present fuss started when Harvard and Princeton broke off athletic relations. Now Yale has come out with an announced policy that instead of playing Harvard in the last football game of each season, Harvard will be played last on alternate years, with Princeton playing last on the others.

Decision Annays Sons of Harvard

Harvard men, to put it mildly, were annoyed by the Yale rotating announcement. Harvard and Yale had always played their game last. Now Yale was breaking away from a tradition hallowed by years. Of course there were muffled suggestions up Cambridge way of breaking off with Yale. There was veiled rejoicing at Princeton. And at New Haven, Yale men wondered how the whole project would come out.

One excellent prediction would be that the Harvard-Princeton breach will be widened. Harvard won't love Princeton any more for the gesture made by Yale. And Princeton, flattered by the move, will feel less urge to return to the Harvard schedule.

The new Yale coaching system, by the way, will be watched with considerable interest by sports enthusiasts.

Mal Stevens stays as head coach. Adam Walsh, formerly of Notre Dame, Benny Friedman, formerly of Michigan, and Charles Somersford, are the aides.

A hybrid staff if there ever was one, but the combination may put some needed pep into the Yale varsity.

Friedman especially is of the smashing, dashing up-and-at-them school of football as has been shown in recent years by his play as captain of the New York professional Giants.

HORSES ARRIVING HERE FOR TANFORAN RACING SEASON

Finest Racing Stock of the Country to Compete in Events During Racing Season to Open at Tanforan March 31

High class runners will be shipped to Tanforan in the next few weeks from Pleasanton, Walnut Creek, Victoria and other places where they have been resting in the winter months. Recently the various trainers, anticipating the opening at Tanforan on Tuesday, March 31, began to send their gallopers along in earnest. The conditions do not intend to be caught napping but plan to have their horses perfectly fit, so they can run against the good ones that are coming up from Agua Caliente.

Nearly two hundred horses are in training at Pleasanton. The course over The Horse Haven of the west has been kept in tip top shape all through the off season here and the trainers have had plenty of opportunity to try out their thoroughbreds.

Miss Marion Hollins, Peter B. Kynne, Charles A. Hartwell, Major Sven Christenson, Dr. George A. Hodges, Leonard Hammond, John H. Rosseter, G. B. Towne, J. B. Grant, E. A. Pool, John McCullough and others have horses at Pleasanton and expect to have their colors up in the twenty-five day meeting at Tanforan. Miss Hollins has a two year old by Dazzler of which she thinks quite highly in charge of the veteran, G. B. Noyes. It may be that this youngster will get to the post on one of the days on which Nevada Queen also owned by Miss Hollins is running.

Over the Heather Farm, owned by John W. Marchbank, a number of promising horses are being conditioned on the same course. This string will be joined at Tanforan by that taken to Agua Caliente last fall by the trainer H. W. Hoag. De Swasey, Chazman, Givanne and other highly regarded colts and fillies are in the southern string.

From the north, E. J. Harris will send Princess Betty and Princess Sally and Boy of Mine to Tanforan. They have been in training for some time at Victoria under the direction of George Thomas, who will be remembered as having had Dusty Miller and other clever performers at Emeryville. Jack Craigmyle is coming along to do the riding for the stable. Princess Betty won the British Columbia Futurity at Vancouver last year. The fillies are by the Cylene horse, Marcus, which has been standing up in Canada for several years.

Sequoia Cagers Closing Season in Game Today

Varsity Basketballers to Meet Mission High School of San Luis Obispo

By GENE HARTNEY

Closing their season officially, the Sequoia Union high school varsity quintet will clash with the Mission high school of San Luis Obispo team in the Sequoia gym this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Sequoia varsity and 130's already hold a victory over the San Luis Obispo team and the Cherokee varsity expects to repeat. The first game was played at the Mission city when the Cherokees were barnstorming early in the season.

After their brilliant game with the Palo Alto high varsity, in which they defeated last Friday evening in a league game, the Cherokees are hopeful of repeating the performance of a month or so ago.

The probable lineup for the game is as follows: Langbehn and Cullen, forwards; LeRoy (C), center; Silva and Bugge, guards.

Coach Frank Griffin, Cherokee mentor, will have Lewis and Eaton, veterans as his main reserves.

JUNIORS, SOPHOMORES WIN INTERCLASS GAMES

Defeating the seniors in the opening round of the interclass basketball championships, the junior class won a surprise victory 32 to 11 being run off at Sequoia Union high school this week.

In another game played for the school title the sophomores defeated the weak frosh team 17 to 4 last Tuesday.

Ed Matheson and Jim McQuire, veteran lightweight players, were outstanding in the junior victory over the upperclassmen. Matheson ran up 14 points to lead the scoring for the contest.

The sophomores also presented a veteran outfit on the courts with a complete roster of former lightweight players.

Following was the lineup of the teams participating: frosh, Hass, Krogh, Farrell, Marcupoulos, Kennedy, Baughn, North, and Hogan; sophomores, Pommes, Kniveton, Blasdel, Fakouri, Swanson, Garcia, McQuiklin, and Boordolin; juniors, Matheson, McQuire, LeRoy, Bugge, and Eaton; seniors, Langbehn, Harris, Archibald, Wohlken, Hirsch, and Dompe.

Oregon Also Has "Freak" Measures

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 27 (UP)—California isn't the only state where "freak bills" are introduced into the legislature.

Up in Oregon, the lawmakers are struggling with a mass of legislation, some of which is as weird, unbelievable and "goofy" as the measures on this state's legislative files.

Here are some of Oregon's "freak bills."

Forbidding a motorist from driving an automobile more than 8 hours, without 2 hours rest; forbidding sale of second hand mattresses unless they are dyed yellow; prohibiting electrical interference to radio sets; making it unlawful to give a drink of liquor to an Indian, and prohibiting anyone under 21 years of age from being an undertaker.

Texas Woman Files 700 Hours SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (UP)—Mrs. Jack Leon Echols, the former Virginia Davis of San Antonio, has spent more than 700 hours in the air, many of them over Yucatan in Mexico, with her aviator husband, a Central American flier.

SPORT BRIEFS

MICHIGAN AGGIES FACE HARD PIGSKIN SCHEDULE

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 27 (UP)—Encouraged, no doubt, by the fine record of his team last year, Coach Jim Crowley has arranged a nine-game football schedule for 1931, for his Michigan State grid-ders, with five "big" games listed.

Colgate, dealt an unexpected upset last fall by the Spartans, is not scheduled for next fall. Syracuse taking the Maroon's place. The other big games are with Army, Georgetown, Michigan and Detroit.

Crowley will open the season Sept. 26, with a warm-up game with Alma College, and follow it a week later with a game with Cornell (Iowa) College. The first away from home game will be at West Point, Oct. 10, and marks the first meeting of the teams. Illinois Wesleyan will be met here Oct. 17, and a week later Georgetown will play here. Georgetown gave Michigan State its only defeat in 1930.

The Syracuse game will be played here Oct. 31, and Ripon will be here Nov. 7, marking the end of the home games.

Demand that Michigan and Michigan State meet when both are in top form will be met in 1931, the annual game falling on Nov. 14, at Ann Arbor. Last year it went to a scoreless tie. The final game will renew the old rivalry with Detroit University, Nov. 22.

CLAIMS KEMPER CADET IS GREAT MAT-MAN

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 27 (UP)—Charles W. Forner, who finds time to exploit Kemper Military school cadets along with his duties as athletic director, believes he has one of the outstanding college heavyweight wrestlers in the country in U. S. (Gunner) Schleuter.

Schleuter, who is 20 and weighs 205 pounds, has been wrestling for four years. During that period he has engaged in 23 matches. He is undefeated. All of his matches have been won via the fall route, and none has gone over five minutes.

Until this winter, Schleuter has been known chiefly as a football player. He is an All-Missouri state tackle.

Department Tells How to Keep Well

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 27 (UP)—Keep a level head!

That's the secret of good health, the California board of health declares.

Avoid excesses of all kinds. Be prepared to meet every emergency. If you are overweight, you probably are eating too much of the fattening foods.

Do not sleep too much, or too little. The normal body requires from seven to nine hours.

Live correctly. Plenty of outdoor living and exercises are needed.

Keep clean. Cleanliness is a safeguard of health. The hands should be washed before every meal.

Picturesue Names Preserved in Signs

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 27 (UP)—"Sister Elsie Freeze out Belly Ache Springs Holy Jim Live Yankee Linger Longer Happy Hollow Apple-sauce."

And the United States forest service in San Francisco cried for help.

Investigation proved that the telegram quoted above was merely a list of names which were to be placed on sign posts to mark places picturesquely named by the '49ers.

Other odd ones were: Breakneck Canyon, Buck Fever Camp, Crank Springs, Devil's Den, Dog Town, Dismal Creek, Devil's Mush Pot, Frying Pan, Lager Beer Point, Tantrum Glade, Tanglefoot Canyon and a few not so polite.

Kills Self Over Wedding Cake BIRMINGHAM, Eng., (UP)—Worried because she had not paid for her wedding cake, Mrs. Thomas Blundell, 19, leaped to death the day after her marriage.

BALTIMORE LEADS CONTEST

CHICAGO, (UP)—Baltimore, Louisville, Portland, Ore., Providence and San Antonio are the leaders in the third annual traffic safety contest sponsored by the National Safety Council. The contest opened September 1, 1930, and closes August 31, 1931.

FIGURES ON COAL BLOCK

LINTON, Ind., (UP)—A block of coal, mined 30 feet below the surface by a stripper machine, but bearing the figures "3," "9," "8" and "X," was found by Clint Ramer, living near here. The figures were plainly visible in two rows, one under the other. Origin of the numerals was not known.

OXFORD BLUE COST PLACED AT $1.455

OXFORD, Eng., Feb. 27 (UP)—The cost of winning a University Blue is about $1.455.

A University Blue is the British equivalent of a university letter in the United States. Winners of Blues automatically become known as Old Blues. Such a title permits the owner to wear a blue scarf, tie, cap or sports blazer. It also entitles him to admission to a number of clubs and graduate functions.

Most Oxford and Cambridge students make their Blues after three years residence, the time generally required to qualify for an A. B. degree. Many undergraduates return just to make a Blue.

Last year Cambridge had two sixth year students and two fifth year students in their winning crew.

Blues are said to be most easily won as a member of a golf team, although more young Britons attempt to win their Blues in association football and cricket than in other sports. Few strive for rowing Blues.

ACTIVE ARCHERY SEASON FORECAST

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 27 (UP)—A record season of activity for archery this summer is predicted by Carl G. Thompson, Pinehurst president of the National Archery Association, which was organized in 1879.

Thompson has appointed the following committees for 1931:

Men's membership: H. B. Hubbell, New Rochelle, N. Y.; C. H. Cox, Memphis, Tenn.; C. W. Douglas, Los Angeles; Howard Hill, Opa-Locka, Fla.

Women's division: Miss Stella M. Ives, Roslindale, Mass.; Miss Harriet Case, Chicago; Miss Betty Gene Hunt, Los Angeles.

Junior division: Dr. E. S. Hodgson, East St. Louis, Ill.; Edward Hixon, Syracuse, N. Y.; John S. Stevenson, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Constitution and by-laws: Robert F. Elmer, Wayne, Pa.; Judge W.

TOM GETS A RUSH CALL FROM PROF. SANDWICH WHO IS TRYING TO DETERMINE WHETHER OR NOT THE PAINTING IS GENUINE

I WISH I HAD A BICYCLE -- I CAN'T AFFORD A TAXI!

THE X-RAY IS FINISHED AND I HAVE FOUND JUST WHAT I EXPECTED -- THERE IS MORE TO YOUR PAINTING THAN APPEARS ON THE SURFACE

THAT'S GREAT!

HELLO, PROFESSOR -- HAVE YOU DONE ANYTHING TO THE PAINTING, YET?

NOT YET, MISTER DUFF --

I'LL HAVE TO SPEND A FEW DAYS ON IT -- IT'S A VALUABLE PICTURE, AND I'D CERTAINLY HATE TO RUIN IT --

SURE! TAKE ALL THE TIME YOU LIKE -- HAVE A CIGAR?

LOOK! YOU CAN PLAINLY SEE ANOTHER FIGURE STANDING BESIDE THE GIRL AT THE WELL -- BUT, AS YOU CAN SEE IN YOUR PICTURE IT IS COVERED BY MEANINGLESS BRUSH STROKES --

MR. DUFF, I SEE A MASTER-PIECE IN THAT VERY CANVAS --

G-GOSH!

Thanks!

Battle Seen in Taxation Issue In California

Land Holders and Real Estate
Men Fighting Present
Tax Methods

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 27 (UP).—The war against special assessment evil in California is soon to be resumed.

Battle-lines have been drawn up sharply, with the leading taxpayers and real estate associations on one side, and those who favor the old system on the other.

Whatever the outcome may be, it appears that relief for the overburdened property owner is in sight.

In order to establish a uniform basis or standard of true value of property throughout the state, a table showing the relation of the average assessed value of property in each county to each $100 of true valuation, is made a part of the bill. This would be used under the proposed act until January 1, 1933.

These averages range from $65.86 in Glenn county, the highest in the state, to $25.19 in Ventura county.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The following building permits were issued by City Building Inspector I. C. Drathman during the week:

W. H. Hougham, 1233 Lexington, residence, $3,000.

R. E. Bruce, 146 Birch street, additions, $75.

A. J. Stebenne, 1153 Hudson street, alterations, $50.

John Brackett, 1000 El Camino Real, service station, $4,000.

J. S. Whitcomb, 306 Whipple ave., alterations, $150.

F. J. Davis, 526 Hudson street, residence, $3,000.

G. Casaretto, 1657 Oxford, residence, $1,800.

Fred E. Erdman, 1123 Clinton street, residence, $4,000.

S. Rolla, Adams street, garage, $150.

TWO HELD HERE FOR COASTSIDE ROBBERY

Two youths were arrested in San Francisco, and have been brought to the jail here by Deputy Sheriffs Maloney and Waldeck. They are Howard Duin, 19, and Albion Fletcher. The two youths are charged with the robbery of Ted Kerner, San Francisco salesman, and a woman friend at Salda Beach Saturday night. Kerner asserts that he trailed the two into San Francisco and had them arrested by San Francisco police. They will be tried in this county for the robbery.

FREED OF CHARGES

Manuel Ortiz, 36, a laborer, who was arrested last Friday by Officer Douglass on a charge of annoying girls on their way home from school, was freed in the court of Judge Edward I. McAuliffe on Wednesday. Judge McAuliffe dismissed the case against Ortiz when the complaining witness failed to show grounds for her charges against the man.

The assessed valuations in San Mateo county were set at $38.99 to every $100 of true value.

The principal feature of the measure is the fact that a debt limit is established on property. This is done by limiting the amount of special assessments for public improvements and acquisitions of property for public purpose to 50 per cent of the property's true value.

Under the bill, before any city or county may levy a special assessment, a thorough investigation must be made, covering the following information:

1. Assessed value of property inside the proposed assessment district, and total true value of lands and improvements.

2. Existing indebtedness against the property in the district.

3. Estimated cost of the work, and the probable assessment upon each parcel of property.

When this information is obtained, it is then laid before the city or county legislative body. Property owners must be notified 30 days in advance of consideration of the ordinance, giving them time to appear and protest, if they desire.

The proposed law was introduced by Senators William E. Harper, San Diego; W. D. Mixer, Exter; J. W. McKinley, Los Angeles; George W. Rochester, Los Angeles; Nelson T. Edwards, Orange, and Walter H. Duval, Santa Paula.
